FILHINHO do Sinhô: a bizarra vestimenta das crianças do séc. passado é uma fantasia original. O blusão (quase um vestido) é em algodão escocês com pala de fustão. As calças (justas) prêsas sob o sapato. Chapelão de palha.

MUCAMA: um corpo comprido inteiramente coberto de babados de bordado inglês sôbre uma saia em tafetá escocês vistoso e bem franzida. Turbante alto e feito no tafetá da saia. É mais um modelinho para as leitoras no Carnaval.

SINHÀZINHA: organdi xadrez, listrado ou liso, em azul ou outro colorido pastel. Ampla gola e babado de organdi branco. Cinto de veludo, fivela ouro. Outra evocação carnavalesca do Rio colonial numa estilização bem sugestiva.

NEGRINHO de Recados: malha preta e cabeleira de lã preta bem armada. Calças "St.-Tropez" abaixo dos quadris em cetim de estôfo listrado. Entre as listras, prenda um galão dourado. Cubra um bastidor de papel metálico.

Sete criações inspiradas em Debret e Rugendas para o Carnaval dêste ano.

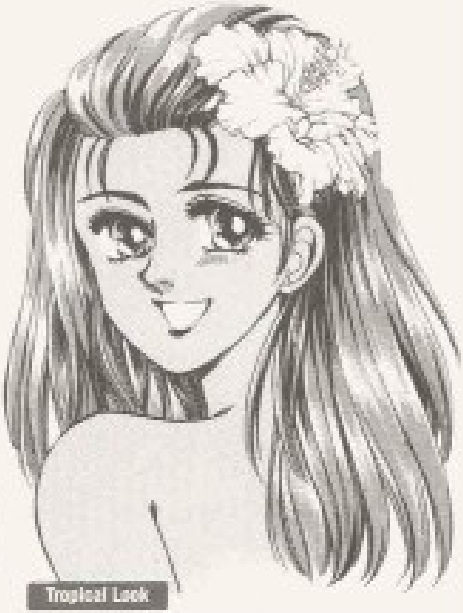
Various Mongoloid Characters

Chinese/Korean Look

Slanted eyes are often seen on the face a bit on the small side to bring out the sharp features. The breadth of the shoulders should be a little narrow despite the strongly built skeletal frames.



Tropical Look

Emphasize the line of the nose a bit. Draw the mouth a bit on the large side bringing out a mood of openness. Separate the hair into fluttering sections to make the girl look like she was raised near the ocean. Also, attach a light tone to visually direct a suntan (light brown).

Native American Look

She is sharp-eyed. Emphasize the line of the nose to bring out the clear cut facial features. Add small props like a bandana for visual direction.

Asian Look

Do not emphasize the line of the nose. The key is to keep it unobtrusive.

The Taj Mahal—the most recent but one of the most beautiful of the wonders in this book—was built by the fifth Mughal emperor, Shah Jahan (who ruled from 1628 to 1658), in memory of his second wife, Mumtaz Mahal. Mumtaz, a Muslim Persian princess, died in childbed in 1630 while giving birth to their fourteenth child. Shah Jahan began to build the Taj Mahal (aptly translated "Crown Palace") the following year. It took twenty-two years and the work of over 20,000 workers and craftsmen to finish, and 1,000 elephants were needed to bring materials from all over India to the tomb's site in Agra, on the bank of the Yamuna River about 120 miles south of New Delhi. The famous white marble dome, with its four flanking minarets, rise from a white marble terrace atop a red sandstone base. Inside the dome is the jewel-inlaid cenotaph of the queen. The grave of Shah Jahan was added to it later.

Rossy de Palma da la cara

Nadie le hacía sombra a esta actriz, hasta que llegó M·A·C Cosmetics y le dio carta blanca para crear una colección completa. Con inspiraciones surrealistas, dadaístas y un toque burlesque, así se desenvuelve la más genuina de las chicas Almodóvar en el onírico universo del maquillaje.

Fotografía: Gorka Postigo.
Texto: Paloma Abad.

LA LÍNEA DEL DESEO.

AMATEUR HAND ANATOMY

JUST REMEMBER THE BASIC SHAPES THAT MAKE UP THE HAND,
AND IMAGINE HOW THEY TURN IN SPACE (THINK THREE-DIMENSIONALLY!).
IF YOU HAVE TROUBLE WITH FORESHORTENING, HERE ARE SOME HANDS WITH THE GUIDELINES LEFT IN.
HOPE IT HELPS TO DEMYSTIFY DRAWING HANDS,
EVEN IF ONLY A LITTLE...

Art Tips By ARANDA

THE FOOT

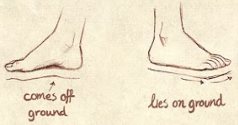
THE "TOE SLANT"

The foot is not a box, and the toes do not line up horizontally. In fact, toes line up at a slant that drops towards the outside of the foot. This shows up in any angle you draw the foot in which toes are visible. Toes are also fairly long and elegant, do not substitute nubs for toes. In "classically" shaped feet, the second toe is longer than the big toe.

THE FOOT FROM THE OUTSIDE

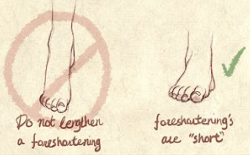
Because your toes line up on a slant, that means you can see all or nearly all toes when viewing the foot from the outside. Toes will also fall back into space, so don't line them up horizontally with the ground.

INSIDE VS. OUTSIDE



The inside and the outside of the foot is different. Not only are the perspectives of your toes different, but so is how each side of the foot sits on the ground. The inside of the foot concaves and suspends itself off the ground. The outside of the foot lies flat on the ground.

FORESHORTENING



The foot from the front is foreshortened. If you draw feet too long from a front view, it will look like your perspective is askew, or that your figure is standing on their toe tips.

BASIC SHAPES

This is how I think of feet when breaking them down into shapes. Feel free to find your own way that seems logical to you. Remember to keep it simple. Every artist has their own trick to drawing feet because we tend to see shapes and construction differently. Guidelines like these are used to help us draw feet quickly from the imagination. When doing odd angles or working on a more realistic drawing, use reference.

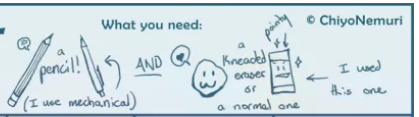
-EYE TUTORIAL-

In this tutorial I'm going to show three different styles of eyes ^^
The first one is a mature male eye that is my favorite one to draw, the second is a generic female eye, and the third a generic male eye. I wanted to teach not only how I do things, but why~ :3 All three eyes, however, show similar techniques. The first eye explains these techniques, and the other two just explain how they differ from the first one. So I'd reccomend reading the first explination anyways XD Thanks for reading this, and I hope this tutorial will be helpful to at least sombody~
Enjoy! <3

What you need:



© ChiyoNemuri

The first thing is the basic shape. This eye is a "mature" one, so it should be fairly long and narrow. The lines are quite straight, but there is still a definite curve to them; keep the lines smooth and flowing. ^^ The eye should be a near almond shape. Even if you don't draw the lines connecting the top lids to the bottom, its important that they would connect smoothly if you did. <3	Next is the iris. 8D The iris' size can be debatable, but if it takes up more than half of the eye it can be a bit overwhelming. The iris is circular, even if the whole iris isn't showing~	Okay~ The golden rule of anime drawing is that the darker it is, the thicker and darker the lines are. Imagine that this was an actual eye. Since the eyelids would block some of the light, the lines are thicker where the iris and the eyelids meet. The corner of the eye would also be thicker~	Eyelashes! Anime is all about simplifying things~ So we don't draw each and every eyelash here. Just enough so that you get the idea. Most of the eyelashes are seen at the corners of the eye. Since the eye curves, the eyelashes do as well, making them more visible there. They should be done pretty thick in quick, smooth strokes. There are also eyelashes on the bottom lids, but not as many. :D	Pupils should be centred in the middle of the iris, even if some of the iris is behind the eyelids. Eyelids bunch up when someone's eyes are open, leaving a crease. :3 For an eye like this it should run almost parallel to the eyelid, and is quite long. Also, for this type of eye, the eyebrow should be reasonably close to the eye. Eyebrows are bit longer than the eye, and are thicker on the one side~	Now for some shading. A bit of shading above the crease so you can tell that, well, its a crease XD The area bellow the top and bottom lids is shaded slightly from the shadown of the lids. Keep in mind your light source, though. The pupil can also be shaded now, but not darker than the lines from before. This is because pupils are actually see-through, so some of the light bounces back from the back of the eyes. Just thought I'd let you know that I have an actual reason behind all this :D	The rest of the iris is shaded now. Shade darker near the edges of the iris, and at the top of it as well. I like to add lines in the iris to make it seem a bit more realistic :3 Just stroke a bunch of lines, but make sure that they all lead toward the center of the pupil. Making them darker towards the iris also gives a cool effect XD	Okay! For the final touches, grab either a kneaded eraser or a pointy edge of an eraser~ First, run the eraser in the space between the crease and the eyelashes; more 3D action! =8D Then, erase the part of the iris just outside of the pupil. This makes the eye look shiny~ Eyes are reflective, so they'll reflect light from your light source. So, drag your eraser across the eye, here its on the left because my light source is on the left. Touch up by making some of the lines darker, like the eyelashes, and its done!! :D
This is a girl's eye~ So that generally means that its not as narrow as a guy's eye, and more full. It still needs to be a almond-ish shape though :D If you're looking for super-tricked out girly anime eyes, then I'm afraid you've come to the wrong place ^^;	Since the eye is fuller, that means that more of the iris is shown~ But the iris still has to be circular :3	Same as before, the iris when it comes in contact with the lids should be darker~ ^^	Lashes work the same as well, except girls tend to have more of them. That means that the lashes should be thicker~	Pupils should again be in the middle~ Eyebrows for girls are a bit curvy~er than guys, but still are slightly longer than the eye. The eyelid crease should follow the lid and is placed towards the inside of the eye :D	Shading works about the same for any eye~ So there's not really much to say here ^^;	Again I've drawn lines in the iris XD You don't have to though.	Same thing as above with the shiny~ness. If you want to make it even shiny~er you can add more reflections of light on the eye~ For this eye I also added another line around the iris. I actually don't use that very often, but it's still a cool effect~ Just make sure that the line is darker at the top and lighter at the bottom :3
This one is similar to the one above, but is the guy version; so it's narrower :D	A slightly smaller iris, with a bit more of it under the lid~	Once again, the same as above~ XD	Lashes are optional for guys. A lot of people don't even draw lashes for them. But I like pretty guys cough So. That means lashes >///>	I tend to point my eyebrows slightly downwards for guys, to make them look more serious~ ^^ Eye crease almost exactly as avove, still following the lashes.	Shading's pretty much the same again XD	As is this~ :3 So really, once you know the basics of drawing eyes, you can draw many different types using the same techniques! ^^	This one has a slightly different light source. Instead of coming from straight on left, its coming from a bit bellow the eye. XD See how it tilts towards the ground? ^^;

Teoria da COR

A cor é um ELEMENTO DA ARTE.

Quando uso cores, estou a crìar um esquema de cores.

Isto ćhama-se roda das cores.

Cores Primárias

vermelho azul amarelo

Podemos misturar estas cores para criar outras cores:

+ = verde

+ + laranja

+ + roxo

Cores Secundàrias

Misturando duas cores prìmárias criamos cores secundárias:

+ = verde

+ = laranja

Cores Complementares

Cores opostas na roda das cores são complementares.

vermelho – verde

azul – laranja

amarelo – roxo

Cores Quentes

As cores quentes lembram o sol e o fogo.

Exemplos: vermelho, laranja e amarelo.

Cores Frias

As cores frias lembram água e natureza,

Exemplos: azul, verde e roxo.

Cores Análogas

Cores que ficam lado a lado na roda das cores.

Exemplo: azul, azul-verde, verde.

Cores Terciárias

Cores terciárias, são criadas, ao misturar uma cor primária com uma cor secundária.

É principalmente utilizada como antibiótico, diurético, analgésico e anti-inflamatório, além de tratar problemas intestinais, tosses, afecções cardíacas e nervosas, dor de dente, curar alguns tipos de úlceras e atuar no controle de diabetes e colesterol.

Nasce e cresce no campo sem qualquer trato cultural. A semente espalhada pelas aves ou pelo vento, não escolhe lugar para nascer.

A espécie, típica do bioma caatinga, pode atingir 5 a 6 metros de altura.

As flores são brancas, muito bonitas e medem aproximadamente 12 cm. Desabrocham à noite e murcham ao nascer do sol. Alimentam as abelhas, especialmente a arapuá.

Anacardium occidentale

Seu fruto, a castanha de caju, tem uma forma semelhante a um rim humano; a amêndoa contida no interior da castanha, quando seca e torrada, é popularmente conhecida como castanha-de-caju.

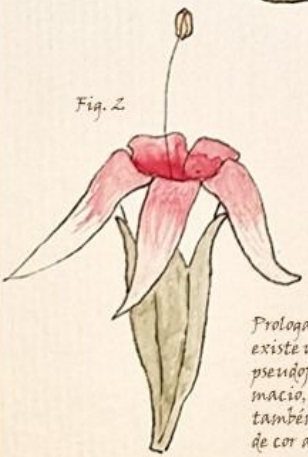

Fig. 2

Prolongando-se ao fruto, existe um pedúnculo (seu pseudofruto) maior, macio, piriforme, também comestível, de cor alaranjada ou avermelhada; é geralmente confundido como fruto.

O caju é colorido em amarelo e/ou vermelho e varia entre o tamanho de uma ameixa e o de uma pêra.
